

RFP 2013-11
Questions and Answers

Question:

Where can I find a reference link stating that “the only existing crash-tested balustrade design utilizes opening that are small and have an opening support column ratio of roughly 1:2”?

Answer:

The following is a shortcut to FHWA Bridge railing website. We are basing our concept of the TX F411 (SBC07d) basic design.
